- (2) If there are 2 names specified on a ballot paper and a voter has indicated his or her vote on the ballot paper by placing the number '1' in the square opposite to the name of one candidate and has left the other square blank, the ballot paper is not invalid by reason only of subsection (1)(b).

- (1) This section and section 85 apply to the counting of votes marked on valid ballot papers in any election except a by-election.
- (2) For each constituency the Electoral Commissioner must:

- (a) ascertain the total number of first preference votes, second preference votes and third preference votes, and so on, cast for each candidate and make a list of the total number of such preference votes;
- (b) give the value of a unit to each first preference vote, one half to each second preference vote, and so on, the value of each preference vote being the reciprocal of the number of the preference indicated by the voter; and
- (c) add the value of the votes for each candidate and make out and sign a statement specifying the total value of the preference votes for the candidate.

85 Determination of result of election

- (1) In a constituency returning 2 members, the 2 candidates receiving the highest total value of votes calculated under section 84 are elected.
- (2) In a constituency returning 3 members, the 3 candidates receiving the highest total value of votes calculated in accordance with section 84 are elected.
- (3) In a constituency returning 4 members, the 4 candidates receiving the highest total value of votes calculated in accordance with section 84 are elected.
- (4) If 2 or more candidates receive an equal value of votes and one or more of the candidates must be excluded, the Electoral Commissioner must determine under section 87 the candidate or candidates to be excluded.

86 Counting of votes and determination of result of by-election

- (1) In respect of votes marked on valid ballot papers in a by-election, the Electoral Commissioner:
 - (a) must ascertain the total number of first preference votes given for each candidate; and
 - (b) must make out and sign a statement setting out the number of first preference votes given for each candidate, and certify, by endorsement on the copy of the writ received, the like particulars.
- (2) The candidate who has received the largest number of first preference votes is, if that number constitutes an absolute majority of votes, elected as a member for the constituency for which he was a candidate for election.

- (3) If no candidate has received an absolute majority of first preference votes, the Electoral Commissioner must proceed with the scrutiny and counting of votes as follows:
 - (a) a second count of the ballot papers must be made;
 - (b) on the second count the candidate who has received the fewest first preference votes is excluded, and each ballot paper counted to him must be counted to the candidate next in order of the voter's preference;
 - (c) if a candidate then has an absolute majority of votes he or she is elected, but if no candidate then has an absolute majority of votes, the process of excluding the candidate who has the fewest votes and counting each of his ballot papers to the unexcluded candidate next in order of the voter's preference must be repeated until one candidate has received an absolute majority of votes; and
 - (d) the candidate who has then received an absolute majority of votes is elected for that constituency.
- (4) If on any count two or more candidates have an equal number of votes and one of them has to be excluded, the Electoral Commissioner must determine under section 87 the candidate to be excluded.

87 Determination of exclusion of candidate

'relevant candidate' means a candidate who may be excluded as a result of the Electoral Commissioner's determination.

 - (a) in relation to each relevant candidate, deduct from the total value of the votes received by the candidate the value that was derived from last preference votes; and
 - (b) identify which of the relevant candidates has the highest remaining value of votes after making the deduction; and
 - (c) exclude each other relevant candidate.
- (3) If, after making the deduction, the remaining value of votes for each of the relevant candidates remains equal, the Electoral Commissioner must repeat the procedure of deduction in respect of second-last preference votes, third-last preference votes, and so on, until it is possible to identify one candidate with the highest remaining value of votes and to exclude the other relevant candidate or candidates.

- (4) If it is not possible to exclude any candidate under subsection (2) or (3) because the preference votes received by each of the relevant candidates are equal in every respect, the Electoral Commissioner must determine by lot a candidate or candidates to be excluded, using a random method of selection such as:
 - (a) tossing a coin; or
